ARRIVE EARLY. STAY LONGER. AND COME BACK SOON!

What I like best about San Francisco is San Francisco. — Frank Lloyd Wright, Architect

There’s always something new to discover in San Francisco. If you’re visiting for business, consider adding time on either end of your trip just for yourself. We don’t want you to leave with any regrets. Of course, we’ll gladly welcome you back, whether you’re visiting with colleagues, friends, or family. If you want to make the most of your time, visit our website for trip ideas, local favorites, and expert guides.

GO BEYOND SAN FRANCISCO
San Francisco is the gateway to some of Northern California’s most desired destinations. From the city, it’s easy to visit the wineries of Napa and Sonoma, the beaches of Santa Cruz and Monterey, and the astonishing natural beauty of Yosemite and Lake Tahoe.

San Francisco hardly needs an introduction. Seems everyone has heard of the Golden Gate Bridge, notorious Alcatraz prison, famous fog, impossible inclines (and the cable cars that conquer them) and tangy sourdough bread. To have the San Francisco experience at least once is a prerequisite for any world traveler. We look forward to your visit.

San Francisco is 49 square miles surrounded by reality. — Paul Kantor
GET AROUND SAN FRANCISCO

GET TO KNOW SAN FRANCISCO.

Diverse. Delicious. Iconic. Inspiring. These words are synonymous with San Francisco, but there’s more to know. Here’s why you should absolutely attend your organization’s next meeting or convention in San Francisco.

San Francisco may be famous for its fog, but we’re actually one of the sunniest cities in the U.S. Our unique landscape guarantees spring-like weather year-round. Warm days are tempered by cool ocean currents, and the hills often redirect the winds. Dressing in layers is always advisable.

San Francisco’s classic theaters as well as a number of top tech companies.

Central Market

San Francisco has always been a city of compassion, of caring for our neighbors and the world we share. Whether you want to take advantage of the “greenest” convention center on the West Coast or in a destination with a culture of breaking boundaries, where the leaders in almost every industry converge to determine what’s next.

Despite our famous hills, San Francisco is a very walkable city. Most hotels are within walking distance of popular attractions and venues. The city is well served by buses, light rail, and historic streetcars. You also have plenty of rideshare options, after all, we are the city that invented Lyft and Uber. Our regional rail system (BART) can get you to destinations around the Bay Area, including San Francisco International Airport (SFO).
